

Dominik Rieber
Partner, Business economist (FH), certified auditor and licensed audit expert

Having completed training as a customs officer, Mr Rieber commenced business economics studies at the University of Applied Sciences and Arts Northwestern Switzerland, where in 2009 he majored in auditing and minored in management consulting.

He qualified as a certified auditor at Deloitte in 2013. Subsequently he worked as a manager in the consumer business and manufacturing sector until 2016. Mr Rieber has many years of experience in auditing local, national and international companies in various industries in accordance with the Code of Obligations, Swiss GAAP FER as well as International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS). Thanks to the numerous projects he worked on, he also gained a valuable insight into the controlling and reporting activities of international companies. From April 2016, Mr Rieber was responsible for accounting at a medium-sized trustee company active in the international arena. He provided substantial support to the auditing and fiduciary services unit.

He has been a partner at Testaris Ltd since January 2019.
